THE SUMMARY

The following is a brief prospectus outlining the opportunity for you to fund a Residential Fellowship at Graduate House for undergraduate and postgraduate students enrolled at a university in Melbourne.

Graduate House is a residential college of The Graduate Union of The University of Melbourne Inc. – a not-for-profit organisation dedicated to the pursuit of academic excellence by providing accommodation for university students.

BENEFITS OF SPONSORING A RESIDENTIAL FELLOWSHIP

- bring students to Melbourne to fuel job creation, and retail and hospitality spending;
- stimulate the economy, cultural vibrancy, local and international networks, research and innovation;
- demonstrate to local, national and global markets your support for the reactivation of at-university education;
- highlight your corporate social responsibility;
- increase your brand loyalty and visibility;
- strengthen your reputation in the market to retain and gain customers;
- naming rights apply, for you or your company to be acknowledged in the Graduate House Residential Fellowship title;
- the name may instead be in acknowledgement of your profession or your passion;
- support a student to get through their education with less financial stress;
- give residencies to specific student 'types' – from regional Australia, of Indigenous or Torres Strait Islander background, with less socioeconomic advantage, or from a particular community; and
- supply and support your future workforce and the innovation/solutions for tomorrow.

Beneficiaries

- There are very few Residential Fellowship opportunities for university students at both undergraduate and postgraduate levels.
- university students tend to be dedicated, mature, determined to succeed and well placed to contribute meaningfully to their discipline, to your organisation and to society.
- in these times, university students are largely alone and isolated, in a room somewhere in Victoria, Australia and the world, rather than having the university experience that they deserve.
- Graduate House provides a supportive, collegiate and caring environment, enabling socialisation, networking and a semblance of the university experience.
- Graduate House is safe, clean and secure with COVIDSafe-compliant systems and procedures.

Each year, Graduate House welcomes university students from across a range of disciplines and all over the world.

These residents come to Graduate House to study, tutor and teach, research, collaborate, develop professionally, and network with others who pursue excellence in their education and careers.

The five college wings of accommodation at Graduate House are located in the heart of Melbourne's graduate precinct of The University of Melbourne and RMIT, and close to CBD campuses of other universities.

Graduate House also provides residents with breakfasts and dinners in the dining room, private study and common areas, and ongoing support in research and career development.

SPONSORSHIP OPTIONS

Four sponsorship options are proposed according to the duration of the residency at Graduate House:

8k

3 MONTHS

you may choose to include one name in the title of the Graduate House Residential Fellowship

16k

6 MONTHS

you may choose also to specify the purpose of the Residential Fellowship

29k

12 MONTHS

you may choose also to specify the type of student preferred for the award of the Residential Fellowship

44k

18 MONTHS

you may choose to be involved in the selection process for the Residential Fellowship awardee

Residential Fellowship sponsors are acknowledged in a Monthly Newsletter, in the Annual Report (April edition) of The Melbourne Graduate and on the significant Donor Board at Graduate House. Anonymity is also ensured during the lifetime of the donor, if so requested.

Please contact us to discuss different sponsorship options - e.g., $16K to support 50% of the residential costs for 12 months.

Conclusion

Funding a Residential Fellowship at Graduate House not only provides opportunities for deserving students enrolled in undergraduate and postgraduate courses, it secures a platform for you to support your passions, social responsibilities and increase your brand visibility.

Whether that be the representation of an organisation or the continuation of a personal legacy, a donation to a Residential Fellowship will see the growth of Australia's academic reputation, bolster both the international and local job market.

So let's get Victoria back on its feet. Donate today to Australia's future.
